B2 Grammar Roadmap

At B2, grammar is about control. You do not only ask whether a sentence is correct; you ask whether it expresses the exact time, tone and relationship you want.

What B2 grammar lets you do

- Narrate past events with layers of time.
- Discuss hypothetical pasts, regrets and alternative outcomes.
- Write more formal reports, essays and emails.
- Compare options with precise degree and nuance.
- Connect paragraphs clearly with discourse markers and cohesive references.
- Control register: formal, neutral or informal.

Important

B2 is not about using complicated grammar in every sentence. It is about choosing the right grammar for the right meaning.

Unit 1. Past Perfect

Learning goals

Understand the meaning before memorizing the form.
Use the structure in real B2 speaking and writing contexts.
Recognize common Spanish-speaker mistakes and correct them.

1. Uso e idea central

El Past Perfect se usa para mostrar que una accion ocurrio antes de otra accion pasada. No es simplemente un pasado mas elegante: organiza una historia desde un punto del pasado y mira hacia algo que ya habia ocurrido.

En B2 lo necesitas para narraciones, explicaciones de causa y reading tasks donde el orden temporal no siempre aparece linealmente.

Think like this

Do not translate word by word. First identify the time, the intention and the relationship between ideas. Then choose the structure.

2. Forma / estructura

Area	Structure	Example
Affirmative	subject + had + past participle	They had left before I arrived.
Negative	subject + had not + participle	She had not seen the message.
Question	Had + subject + participle?	Had you met him before?
Keywords	by the time, before, after, already, never	By the time we arrived, it had started.

3. Usos principales con ejemplos explicados

Use	Example	Explanation
Earlier past action	When I got home, my parents had already eaten.	La cena paso antes de que yo llegara.
Cause in the past	I was tired because I had slept badly.	La mala noche explica el cansancio.
First experiences before a past moment	It was the first time I had spoken in public.	Antes de ese momento nunca habia hablado en publico.

4. Comparacion clave

Point	Example	Meaning
Past Simple	I arrived and the class started.	Primero llegue; despues empezo.
Past Perfect	I arrived and the class had started.	La clase empezo antes de que yo llegara.
Spanish trap	I arrived late because I missed the bus.	Correct, but use Past Perfect if you need to stress the earlier cause: I had missed the bus.

5. Errores comunes

Incorrect	Correct	Why
I had went home.	I had gone home.	Had + past participle.
When I arrived, they left already.	When I arrived, they had already left.	Already normally goes before the participle.
I had finished yesterday.	I finished yesterday.	No second past reference, so Past Simple is enough.

6. Model sentences

Model	By the time I arrived at the station, the train had already left. I felt frustrated because I had checked the timetable, but I had not noticed the platform change.
Model	The company changed its policy because several customers had complained about the service.

Unit 1 Extra Training - Past Perfect

F. Deep explanation: how to choose it

At B2, the most important question is not only how to form the structure. The important question is why this structure is better than a simpler alternative. Use the checklist below to decide.

Choose this structure when	You need to express a precise relationship between ideas, times or attitudes. A simpler sentence would hide an important detail. The context is B2 speaking, essay writing, report writing or formal communication.
Avoid overusing it when	A simple sentence is clearer. You are not sure about the time relationship. You are speaking very informally and the structure would sound artificial.

G. Recognition drill

Read these examples and identify the reason for the grammar choice. This trains reading and listening recognition.

Unit 5 Extra Training - Third Conditional

F. Deep explanation: how to choose it

At B2, the most important question is not only how to form the structure. The important question is why this structure is better than a simpler alternative. Use the checklist below to decide.

Choose this structure when

You need to express a precise relationship between ideas, times or attitudes.
A simpler sentence would hide an important detail.
The context is B2 speaking, essay writing, report writing or formal communication.

Avoid overusing it when

A simple sentence is clearer.
You are not sure about the time relationship.
You are speaking very informally and the structure would sound artificial.

G. Recognition drill

Read these examples and identify the reason for the grammar choice. This trains reading and listening recognition.

Sentence	What to notice
If I had left earlier, I would have caught the train.	No sali antes y no tome el tren.
If they had listened, they would have avoided the problem.	Evalua una decision pasada.
If it had not rained, the match would have continued.	La lluvia si ocurrio.
If I had studied...	Corrected form. Notice why the original mistake was wrong.

Unit 10 Extra Training - Wish, If Only and Regret Structures

F. Deep explanation: how to choose it

At B2, the most important question is not only how to form the structure. The important question is why this structure is better than a simpler alternative. Use the checklist below to decide.

Choose this structure when	You need to express a precise relationship between ideas, times or attitudes. A simpler sentence would hide an important detail. The context is B2 speaking, essay writing, report writing or formal communication.
Avoid overusing it when	A simple sentence is clearer. You are not sure about the time relationship. You are speaking very informally and the structure would sound artificial.

G. Recognition drill

Read these examples and identify the reason for the grammar choice. This trains reading and listening recognition.

Sentence	What to notice
I wish I lived closer to school.	No vivo cerca.
If only we had left earlier.	No salimos antes.
I wish you would listen.	Me molesta que no escuches.
